PSION

MIND OVER MATTER

Each creature that lives and breathes is united by one shared experience: THOUGHT. Psions take this fundamental reality and harness it as a tool in the physical world. Bend the flow gravity, twist the reality of minds, or throw things really, really hard. All of this barely scratches the surface of what a Psion can accomplish: altering the physical world through sheer thought alone.

Psionic power, rare and mighty as it is, takes a toll on those who dare to wield it. To exert one's own mind so as to affect the world and other minds around you is to take on all the latent negative thoughts that can be found there. However, those with the will to withstand the strain can achieve heights that few could ever dream of.

Control your psionic field, taking command of errant objects, friends, and foes in your surroundings.

Withstand the strain! Push yourself to greater heights with your Psionic abilities at the cost of your fortitude.

Dominate minds. Take control over the thoughts and perceptions of your enemies through illusions and misdirections.

High risk, high reward class that controls the battlefield through positioning and psionic power!

FAQ

- Alpha. This is an early, alpha build of the class (it is not finished). Enough is here to test the main combat mechanics and get a feel for its style. Abilities will almost certainly be changed, many more will be added, others removed. If you have any feedback as you read it though and playtest it please let me know!
- Incapacitated? When your concentration breaks, you do not lose any actions but you cannot take any reactions that round (or other actions granted by an ally such as Coordinated Strike!), attacks have advantage against you, and any melee attack that hits, is turned into a crit.
- Psionic Blast. You can use either KEY attribute. There is no attack roll, so this does not miss or crit, and is great as a 2nd or 3rd attack, vs minions, when Blinded, or otherwise Hampered.
